Description

When I first start up Quassel, the user list does not load up, but the number of users in that chatroom is listed. See screenshot.

It eventually does load in about 5min. I also have high speed internet, so it not an internet speed issue.

This started happening when I upgraded to KDE 4.8 RC1
Using Quassel 0.7.3 (option not available in the list below).

History

This is with Qt 4.8 and KDE RC 2 now.

#2 - 01/13/2012 02:13 PM - Anonymous

This is actually a Qt bug. The users are loaded already, it's just a drawing issue. Selecting something in the list should trigger an update and show the rest as well.

This seems to be a bug in QTreeView when animations are enabled. We have a workaround in place in the upcoming 0.7.4 and 0.8.0 versions:
