Description
Currently input line sits below the chat buffer. It does not sit the nick list and channels list which are at the left and right of the chat buffer. I would like input line to sit below everything, so it is roughly 100% wide. I tried unlocking the interface and dragging it around: the input line can also sit above the topic thingie. Again, there, it does not occupy 100% of window width. I feel this feature is important for cosmetic reasons. I'm a little bit conservative and keep coming back to irssi and chatzilla (but not weechat which has the channels list at the left, preventing the input bar from being 100% wide) as their layout has this feature. I couldn't find any other layout features that distinguish the clients I keep liking to use. This bug is dedicated to making the above feature available in Quassel. Thanks.
