[21:21:37] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, It would appear one of our US client servers have fallen off the edge of the discwo^H^H^H^H^H^Hinternet and all but vanished! We're looking into the issue now and hope to have it back soon. Affected users ~3K. Apologies for the inconvenience and thank you for flying freenode!

[10:16:10] [christel] [Global Notice] As Chatham Island, NZ enters 2009 I'd like to wish each and every one of our users a very happy New Year! As normal #freenode-newyears is open and you're welcome to join us there! We may send the occasional wallop over the next day, however, this will be the only global notice. If you wish to see further messages from staff please set yourself +w.

[13:48:48] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, I've added a new module to our services installation, that may be of interest to those of you with enforce enabled. It may also cause some adverse interactions with auto-identify scripts, however. Please see http://blog.freenode.net/?p=164 for more information. Thank you for using freenode and have a great day!
[13:57:57] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, terribly sorry to bother you again but regardless of how much hairdye I go through, I can't get away from being blonde. Needless to say, my previous global resulted in inadvertedly ddosing the machine hosting the blog and website. Please try again later and for now, call me Homer and watch me Doh!

[13:11:08] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, we appear to have lost our Moscow based client server, and with it approximately 1600 users. We're looking into the issue now and should hopefully have both the server and the users back shortly. Apologies for the inconvenience. Thank you for using freenode and have a nice day.
[17:57:24] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, In about 5 minutes time we'll be taking down one of our client servers for maintenance. The downtime window is one hour but it should take considerably less time. Affected users ~1k. Thank you for flying freenode and have a nice evening!
[18:16:27] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi again. We've moved leguin to new hardware, it's up and running and linked to the network again. That concludes today's scheduled maintenance and with some luck it's plain sailing from here, until Friday when we move hubbard to a new switch! Big thanks to the University of Umeå. Sorry for the downtime and have a continued nice evening.

[13:22:03] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, As some of you may have noticed, we lost our ipv6 servers for a extended period of time in the last day. I am terribly sorry about this, it would appear that we've unmasked yet another peculiar hyperion bug. They're back up now and we shouldn't experience any further problems. Thank you for using freenode and have a great day.

[19:55:25] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, it would appear one of our sponsors are having some issues with their connectivity. As a result we've lost one of our client (leaf) servers along with services. We hope to have things back to normal asap.
[20:13:21] [christel] [Global Notice] Hi all, Everything is back to normal now (services included) -- bgp issues with uunet as the cause of the problem. Apologies for the inconvenience and have a good day.

[19:53:32] [tomaw] [Global Notice] Hi! One of our servers had a short-lived problem causing some users to be disconnected. It should be back online now, sorry for the downtime and thanks for using freenode!

History

#1 - 01/24/2009 04:10 PM - EgS

Those are regular notices from a user (in that case a network operator). You can chose where those notices should be displayed via settings -> behavior -> general -> "user notices". Check "Status Buffer"

#2 - 01/24/2009 04:11 PM - EgS

- Status changed from New to Rejected

If you want to filter via that "[global notice]", which is a network specific thing, then you will have to wait for script support.
