Version:	0.3.0.x
Description
Double clicking on a query window (to rename it?) allows inline editing, but the size of the editable area is sometimes tiny.
Check the attached file for an example.

This seems to be a style bug. Are you sure you don't have trailing whitespace in the buffer name for the second screenshot?

I notice various glitches in painting as well, but I'd be surprised if that was our fault, as we don't draw the editor for the items...

No Feedback was given in last 7 month. I can not reproduce this behaviour. If there is reproducible way reopen it.
